TechLaw Solutions and Anacomp Announce Strategic Alliance

TechLaw to Provide Customer Data Hosting and Review Services Powered by Anacomp's CaseLogistix Litigation Support Software

Chantilly, VA and San Diego, CA – September 25, 2007 – TechLaw Solutions, a leading national provider of e-Discovery and other litigation support data management services, and Anacomp® Inc. (OTC: ANCPA.PK), a leading provider of document and business process services and solutions, today jointly announced a new strategic alliance. Through the agreement TechLaw will provide its customers data processing, hosting and review services powered by Anacomp's CaseLogistix® litigation support software, which empowers legal teams to quickly produce, organize and review digital evidence. TechLaw will offer the new application through its secure, high-availability, "rich client" hosted application service provider (ASP) environment for maximum access and project control. TechLaw will also offer implementation and customer training services.

The alliance of TechLaw and Anacomp empowers law firms and corporate general counsel to greatly accelerate litigation document processing and gain competitive advantage by utilizing a complete, end-to-end litigation support package. TechLaw already has CaseLogistix-certified staff trained to deliver and manage the combined offerings for the utmost customer benefit, including the power of web-based data review and the ability to move data easily into CaseLogistix.

"Incorporating CaseLogistix offers our clients a complete solution covering a wide range of services for electronic document organization, processing, annotation, discovery management and production, and is a natural complement to our broad range of offerings," said Mel Goldenberg, President of TechLaw Solutions. "This alliance with Anacomp further extends our ability to serve the growing demand for increased productivity and efficiency managing electronic evidence throughout the litigation lifecycle. This includes bringing hard-copy and e-Discovery data together in a unified database and the handling of foreign language documents. The addition of this hosting and review component blends with our rich history of delivering high-value litigation support solutions and attentive project management."

"TechLaw Solutions is a well-respected litigation support firm whose capabilities, reputation and expertise complement our offerings and extend our reach to new litigation customers," said Wayne Ford, Anacomp's Senior Vice President of Marketing, Channels, and Strategic Alliances. "Working together with TechLaw, we'll be able to address the needs of our collective clients who desire to streamline operations, reduce costs and create competitive advantage by utilizing best-of-breed technologies to better manage increasing litigation document volumes and complex litigation processes.”

A powerful and versatile litigation software application, CaseLogistix provides a complete system for electronic document organization, annotation, discovery management and publication. Available as a desktop version or on-demand via a hosted ASP environment, CaseLogistix empowers legal teams to quickly assemble, review, and produce any amount of digital evidence using an interface similar to that of Microsoft® Outlook®.
