LawyerLink to Provide Review Services Using TechLaw e-Discovery Solutions

Clients to gain extended attorney review options, increased e-Discovery opportunities

Chicago, Ill. and Chantilly, Va. – September 24, 2008 – TechLaw Solutions, a leading national provider of e-Discovery and litigation support data management services, and LawyerLink, a leading provider of attorney staffing, review and project management services, jointly announce a strategic alliance. LawyerLink and TechLaw will offer their clients an integrated e-Discovery solution, with coordinated planning and project management to maximize efficiency and reduce project costs.

According to the 2008 Socha-Gelbman survey, attorney review continues to be the most significant portion of the e-Discovery process. Engaging outside review counsel can enable organizations to further reduce time and costs related to document review staffing, planning & management, and to concentrate on the legal issues in a case, not the logistics.

"TechLaw Solutions is a well-respected, award-winning e-Discovery service provider whose expertise and project management vision are a natural complement to our services," said Jennifer Bertoglio, LawyerLink's President and CEO. "By facilitating enhanced communications and coordinated processes, this alliance will offer our clients significant efficiencies in the planning and implementation of electronic discovery projects."

"LawyerLink's shared philosophy of client-focused service and stringent selection process to qualify high-end reviewers further ensures cases will be completed in a timely and cost effective manner," noted Mel Goldenberg, President of TechLaw Solutions. "Pairing the expert review teams from LawyerLink with our broad spectrum of e-Discovery services enables clients to effectively work through complex situations or increasing volumes of data."
